San Antonio Zoo® Honors Frontline Heroes with FREE Admission to Zoo the Entire Month of September

San Antonio Zoo is showing appreciation for current doctors, nurses, police officers, fire fighters, and EMTs across Texas and is offering them free admission during the month of September. During Frontline Heroes Appreciation Month, these community heroes will enjoy free standard admission (with proper ID) and up to four guests can receive 50% off the standard admission tickets on the day of their visit from September 1 through September 30.

“Our frontline heroes now more than ever work tirelessly and risk their lives daily to ensure that our community is safe,” said Tim Morrow, San Antonio Zoo’s President & CEO. “Offering them and their families the opportunity to reconnect, relax and enjoy the zoo is our way of saying “thank you.””

As a bonus, doctors, nurses, police, fire, and EMT professionals visiting after September 18th will get to enjoy the first two weeks of Zoo Boo!, a non-scary daytime Halloween event for the whole family.

Admission details:

- To claim free admission ticket, current doctors, nurses, police officers, firefighters, and EMT personnel must show valid credentials at the zoo’s front gate
- Doctor, nurse, police officer, firefighter, or EMT professional must be present
- Up to four (4) guests receive special 50% off standard admission ticket
- Additional discounted tickets must be purchased at the front gate
- Tickets must be used on the day of redemption
- Offer cannot be combined with any other offer or discount
